Williams

Student Profile

Williams students are an incredibly talented, passionate, and diverse lot. They are defined as much by their individual perspectives as by the way they come together-with faculty and staff as well-to create a warm, dynamic, surprisingly noncompetitive community.

So it's difficult to characterize students with sets of numbers. But as you consider joining this extraordinary community, maybe it's helpful to know something concrete about who we are and where we come from. The pages that follow offer some details, meant to give you a sense of the students who apply and come to Williams...and who, in turn, are Williams.
